CONVERSATION STARTERS

“Help me understand how these fees and costs might affect my investments. If I give you $10,000 to invest, how much will go to fees and costs, and how much will be invested for me?”

What are your legal obligations to me when acting as my investment adviser or when providing recommendations as my broker-dealer? How else does your firm make money and what conflicts of interest do you have?”

When we provide you with a recommendation as your broker-dealer, or act as your investment adviser, we have to act in your best interest and not put our interest ahead of yours. At the same time, the way we make money creates some conflicts with your interests. You should understand and ask us about these conflicts because they can affect the recommendations and investment advice we provide you. Here are some examples to help you understand what this means:

- Our firms have an incentive to make a profit. Destiny Capital Corporation is committed to our fiduciary responsibility to put clients’ interests ahead of our own. We regularly educate our advisors on the responsibilities of being a fiduciary, including the responsibility to put our clients’ interests ahead of our own.
- Our firms allow our advisors and staff to participate in certain outside business activities. We require all outside business activities to be pre-approved so that we can ensure that they will not negatively impact the advice or service our clients receive.
- DCSC participates in revenue sharing for certain cash sweep options. We review the options available to customers and help them choose the most suitable option for their circumstances.

“How might your conflicts of interest affect me, and how will you address them?”

How do your financial professionals make money?

Our primary business is as Registered Investment Adviser, and the majority of our income is in the form of fees from our investment advisory clients. We pay our financial professionals a set salary and a bonus as a percentage of their salary. Although some of our Investment Advisor Representatives and Leadership team are also Registered Representatives of the broker-dealer, none of them is paid commissions on the sales of stocks or mutual funds, nor are they paid based on the amount of client's assets they bring to the firm or manage for the firm. However, bonuses are dependent on the firm making a profit, and therefore our advisors have a financial incentive to increase revenue to the firm.

If the client directs the adviser to secure insurance coverage for the client the firm may receive an insurance commission; if this is the case the client will be notified in writing in advance of obtaining coverage that the insurance commission will be paid.
